SOLDIERS BUSY IN PHILIPPINES

General Wood Files His Annual Report.

Troops Quell Uprisings, Prevent Slave Trade and Kindred Abuses.

Moros Generally Peaceful, but Where There Was Actual Fighting They Began It.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 .- Gen. Wood. commanding the Department of Mindanao Philippine division, in his annual report to the War department, says that the troops of the department have been in the field a great portion of the year, quelling armed uprisings and preventing slave trade and kindred abuses. He says that in almost every instance actual fighting was initiated by the Moros.

"Conditions among the Moros throughout the department are generally peace-out the department are generally peaceful," says Gen. Wood, who adds:

"The establishment of civil government and the extension over them of certain laws and regulations have caused some excitement and at times serious resistance, especially the law probibiting slavery. In some sections active hostility has been endangered by our presence, especially in the Lake Lanao region, where almost constant murderous attacks on workingmen and soldlers were the rule until the effects of the recent expeditions to the Tarca side of the lake, combined with expeditions to other sections of the Lanao, were felt by the Moros." The power of the Moros of that section, he says, has been completely broken."

All Quiet in Jolo.

All Quiet in Jolo.

Continuing the report says:
"In Jolo affairs are quiet. The prompt, crushing of Hassan's uprising has made a deep impression on the people, and the abrogation of the Bates agreement has done much to bring to an end the unfortunate conditions which existed under it."

Date All's party, the report adds is the only band of Moros now openly hostile, and it is small and is being followed by troops and scouts. Gen. Wood says it is believed there will not be any very serious resistance of authority by the Moros in the future, but there will be constant work of a police character requiring the use of troops and constabulary.

The report shows that trials by general courts-martial have diminished for englisted men and increased for officers.

Encourage Local Shipping.

Gen. Wood recommends encouragement of the local shipping interests of the islands, the use of a repeating shot-gun loaded with buck-shot and a stealibre revolver for outpost duty. He says that while the United States has increased the expensiveness of the native Philippins soldier as compared with the native soldier as compared with the native soldier as compared with the native soldier under Spanish rule, "we have not increased his usefulness for the purpose for which he is maintained."

Speaking of the scouts, Gen. Wood says. "It is a question if we have not diminished their capability for the work they are supposed to do considering the standard maintained by the amount of equipment which we have given them, and the rations furnished them," remarking that prior to enlistment they virtually lived on rice and fish. The report says the shoos furnished are unsuitable for natives, and it adds:

"The scout's ability to do excellent marching barefoot should be improved and his feet kept in condition to do so. We have swathed and toggled our tropical native soldier, whose native clothes weighed only a few ounces and hung loosely on him, with all the clothing requirements of those for the temparate zone." INDIAN SEEKS RUNAWAY WIFE

Irate Husband Has Hired Ute as an Interpreter.

They Seek the Assistance of the Police in Finding the Eloping

Stolid and unmoved. Ee-aa-o-se-pah latened while his friend Charlie told Chief Lynch and Captain Burbidge how the former's squaw had run away with an Indian named "Jimmle." All the way from the Fort Hall reservation, through McCammon, Ida., he has trailed his erring spouse. He has asked the Salt Lake colice officers to help him. Ec-aa-o-se-pah is a Shoshone Indian He has been quartered at the Fort Hall reservation and was happily married "Big Tom" is his name in United States Innguage. He cannot speak a word of English, so his friend Chaffle, who is a Ute, interprets for him and acts as his guide and mentor. When he finds the runaways Big Tom thinks he can do all that is necessary without any aid from the interpreter.

Wears Regulation Clothing.

Wears Regulation Clothing.

There is evidently an unusual purpose and determination behind this long search. Very rarely are Indians found who will take so much trouble over a runaway squaw. And the fact that this Shoshone, a blanket Indian, has taken the precaution to clothe himself like a Lite, shows that he has method besides determination. If he were clothed in his blanket as he is on the reservation, he would attract too much attention. Clothed in white man's clothes, he is hardly noticed, although he is large for a Lite.

George unable to find his way without being unable to find his way without interpreter, he has hired the Ute to lide and interpret for him Many ankets and hides will become the property of Charlie if Tom finds the clopers.

Was Buying Bends for Her.

Was Buying Beads for Her.

It seems that the Shoshone has not had his squaw very long. Perhaps the fact that he had to pay her father a goodly amount in kind accounts for Tom's being so leath to lose her. The tribe was encamped at the far end of the reservation. The husband took a trip in to the agency to trade off some hides. With the results of the trade he was going to buy heads for his faithful wife. For in all the reservation therewere no flapjacks nor deg stew like that made by Tom's little wifey.

He got back with his beads little wirey.

He got back with his beads, and his wigwam was empty. For the insidious Jimmie had got in his work. With a wily tongue, he made insinuations against the big chief. He suggested that the frequent trips to the agency were not always made for beads. He said there were other squaws and other flarplacks. And evidently his medicine was good, for the wife cloped.

Drinks Wers on Him.

Drinks Were on Him.

Drinks Were on Him.

When Ee-aa-o-se-pah came back to the camp, he found he did not have much use for the beads he had brought. He would not have mlnded the loss of the wife so much, but he was a redoubtable man in the tribe. He had boasted much of the qualities of his wife. Consequently the drinks were on him, and he could not stand the leers of the other bucks. So he made up his mind and exchanged his beads for deadly weapons. With all the other worldly goods he possessed, he oribed Charific to act as his interpreter. He first hunted all over the reservation for the elopers. Then he traced them to McCammon.

Thinking that they have made for the Ute camp in the Cintah reservation the scarching party has come to Salt Lake. No trace has been seen of the runaways here. The Shoshone has been to the Ute camp, some miles out west from Salt Lake, but nothing had been seen of the couple.

He Only Grants.

He Only Grunts.

Asked what he will do to Jimmie when e catches him, the big Indian only routs. When he is asked what he wants its wife back for, he maintains a dignified silence.

Big Tom and his interpreter obtained ledging in the city hall for the night. Today they will try and obtain passes from the railroad, so that they can go down to the Unitah reservation.
